WELLINGTON INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

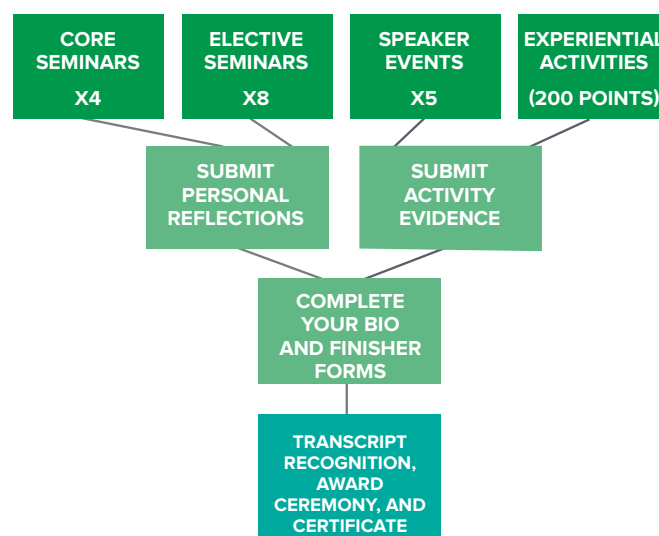

The Wellington International Leadership Programme (WILP) is a free, self-paced, and interdisciplinary extracurricular programme that advances your knowledge of global issues; presents creative, diverse, and innovative approaches to global citizenship; and enhances your intercultural competence and employability.

Complete the programme over the course of your degree by choosing from a wide range of interactive seminars delivered by academics from across the university and by visiting experts; experiential learning and volunteering opportunities both on campus and beyond; and speaker events hosted by the University, the diplomatic community, and other internationally engaged organisations.

- Open to all students (undergraduate and postgraduate, international and domestic)
- Connect with like-minded students and academics (domestic and international) from around the university and the world
- Build your professional networks and increase your employability
- Become eligible for the Global Leader Grant ($1000) to help support an exchange semester abroad

If you are interested in global affairs, cultural diversity, languages, diplomacy, international opportunities (including exchange), and creating more peaceful, tolerant, inclusive, secure, and sustainable societies, then WILP is the programme for you!

PROGRAMME FINISHERS

LOGAN BYRNE

(Aotearoa New Zealand)

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

“WILP helped me find my niche in the world! A key strength of WILP is that it allows students to meet those working within their field of interest, giving us a taste of what our futures might also look like. The programme has also taught me the importance of leadership as collaboration—to understand the intersectional experiences of others and how that shapes their views.”

NATHAN HOTTER

(Aotearoa New Zealand)

BACHELOR OF COMMERCE IN ACCOUNTING AND COMMERCIAL LAW

“The seminars are very interesting and allow you to learn beyond the context of your degree. WILP has taught me a lot about leadership in a globalised world, even challenging the term leadership itself and how we apply it. I felt it opened my mind quite a bit, enabling me to better appreciate different people’s understandings. I am excited to be a global citizen and continue experiencing new places and things.”

NEVIN JOJO

(Aotearoa New Zealand)

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING (HONS) IN SOFTWARE ENGINEERING

“WILP is a great start for any students who want to kickstart their leadership development in their personal and professional lives. The speaker events and seminars helped me learn about the various factors involved in becoming an effective and successful leader, while the experiential activities provided me an opportunity to get my hands dirty and put this knowledge into action. With the help of the skills I picked up and the knowledge that was shared, I was able to co-found and lead the New Zealand Students’ Space Association.”

DEANNA AYUPOVA

(France)

PHD IN CHEMISTRY

“Engagement in WILP helps you look at our world with different eyes. The programme increased my awareness and critical thinking about global issues and participation in decision-making processes. It introduced me to globally focused organisations operating in New Zealand and provides an excellent overview of New Zealand’s role in the global community. That knowledge can be used in the future while looking at the job market or continuing with higher education.”

HANYBUL SON

(South Korea)

BACHELOR OF COMMERCE IN INFORMATION SYSTEMS

“Surrounding myself with diverse people at WILP events that encouraged discussions and communication ensured the learning never stops.

Throughout the programme, I have managed to attend a wide spectrum of workshops, including cultural communication, leadership, politics and climate change workshops. I greatly sharpened my problem-solving skills and team communication skills. Instead of focusing on proposed problems, I have learned continuously to engage in open discussions.”

VIC CAMMELL

(Aotearoa New Zealand)

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN DEVELOPMENT STUDIES AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

“I have thoroughly enjoyed my experience as part of WILP. This included volunteering with UNYouth, getting appointed to the student committee of the New Zealand Institute of International Affairs, and acting as one of WILP’s student ambassadors. WILP broadened my horizons and made for a university experience filled with learning both inside the classroom and out.”
