ACCOMMODATION

We recommend you apply for University accommodation as early as possible. Apply by 1 October to secure a place in one of your preferred options. Apply by 1 December to be guaranteed an offer of accommodation.

HALLS OF RESIDENCE

The University's halls of residence are like apartment buildings—they house many students, mostly in single or some double rooms. Living in a hall of residence means you will be part of a safe and supportive community of students who come from different backgrounds with varying interests.

The University has 12 halls, located in different parts of the city. Most are within easy walking distance of our three campuses.

Catered halls

You will be provided with meals throughout the week and will be surrounded by other students who are new to Victoria University of Wellington.

*Weekly rate includes most utilities. Rates are subject to change and may vary for 2024.

Independent-living halls

You will need to cook or buy your own meals. Independent living halls are filled with senior students and can be more like private accommodation.

HOMESTAY

A homestay means you live with a local family—and it is great for practising your English. Most homestays are not within walking distance of the University, so you may have to travel to get there.

You will get your own fully furnished bedroom and most of your meals are provided (you just have to buy your own lunch during the week).

Host Families New Zealand facilitate homestay accommodation for the University.

If you are under the age of 18 years when you begin your studies, you are required to live in a homestay or catered hall of residence.

PRIVATE ACCOMMODATION

Also known as 'flatting' in New Zealand—this could be in an apartment, townhouse, or a house. Finding private accommodation in Wellington can take some time and may be more difficult near the start of the year when many other students are also looking. Depending on your budget, you may end up living some distance away from the University. For these reasons, it may be best to consider other accommodation options first.

For more information about accommodation and how to apply, go to our website.

HOW OUR DEGREES WORK

Some of our degrees are flexible—allowing you to mix and match different subjects to form one degree and even giving you the chance to choose majors from other degrees.

Some degrees are quite specialised and focus on one particular area of study. Most of your first-year courses in these degrees are already set, which leaves a small amount of space for elective courses.

DEGREES

A degree is a qualification awarded when you complete a programme of university study. Your first university degree is called an undergraduate or Bachelor's degree. Each degree has its own set of requirements that you need to complete in order to graduate.

A typical degree requires 360 points and three years of full-time study. You'll normally take around 120 points (six to eight courses of 15 or 20 points each) per year. Some degrees take four years.

MAJORS

120–150 points

Majors are the subject(s) you focus on throughout your degree. For example, you can take a Bachelor of Arts (BA) with a major in History. You will take courses in your major subject every year. The remaining points are filled by electives or a minor when studying a single major.

DOUBLE MAJORS

240–300 points

A double major allows you to focus on two subjects within one degree—for example, a Bachelor of Arts with a double major in History and French. This requires the same number of points as a degree with only one major, and should not take any extra time.

Some of our degrees also let you take a second major from another degree.

MINORS

In some of our degrees, you can take a minor, which is similar to a major but with fewer courses.

CONJOINT PROGRAMMES

A conjoint degree programme is a specialised programme which, due to cross-crediting, allows two degrees to be completed in a shorter amount of time than it would take to complete them consecutively. For example, a conjoint Bachelor of Arts (BA) and Bachelor of Laws (LLB) would take five years to complete, rather than seven years.

For all conjoint degree programmes, a B– grade average (or better) is required to continue in the conjoint programme each year.

ELECTIVES

If you still have room in your programme, you can include courses from other subjects in which you are interested (often called electives).

CHOOSING YOUR COURSES

Explore your undergraduate study options on our website to plan your first year of study and choose your courses.

www.wgtn.ac.nz/explore

PLANNING SCHOOL SUBJECTS

All our degrees have recommended school subjects. However, in nearly all cases, there are introductory or bridging courses offered at the University for those with limited background in a subject area.

You can still enrol in a specific degree/major/course if you have not studied a related subject at school, but for some subjects (such as Chemistry, Mathematics, and Physics), it is useful if you have studied these at school. It is also very important that you take four or five University Entrance approved subjects.

For tips on planning school subjects, a list of recommended school subjects for each of the degrees we offer, and to explore your study options at the University, go to our website.

- 📍 www.wgtn.ac.nz/study/course-planning
- 📍 www.wgtn.ac.nz/international/programmes/undergraduate

TEACHER EDUCATION

If you plan to become an early childhood teacher, you can apply to study for the Bachelor of Education (Teaching) Early Childhood. Once you complete your degree, you'll be eligible for provisional teacher registration.

If you plan to become a primary or secondary school teacher, you should first study a degree in the subject area you are interested in teaching. Once you have completed your degree, you can study for a one-year teaching qualification, such as the Graduate Diploma (Primary or Secondary), to become a registered teacher.

At the time of printing this, the University was working through a change process that may impact some of our academic programmes and course offerings. Note that the majority of our courses will not be affected. Prospective students are encouraged to discuss enrolment plans with our international team. Email international@vuw.ac.nz and our team will be able to provide you with information and advice.

We recommend taking four or five approved subjects for University Entrance in Year 13.

APPLICATION DEADLINES

You can submit your application at any time when you are in your final year of secondary school study. You can apply before your exam results are available.

Apply by 1 December. Applications received after this date will be assessed on a case-by-case basis.

You need to submit your application to Wellington University International before you will be able to enrol online for courses. Course enrolment opens in late September. For limited-entry programmes and courses, online enrolment closes 1 December.

VISA INFORMATION

All international students must have a valid student visa to enrol at Victoria University of Wellington. You cannot enrol with a secondary school visa.

A valid visa must:

- ▶ state the name of the programme you will be enrolling in (e.g., Bachelor of Commerce)
- ▶ state the name of the institution you will be enrolling at (e.g., Victoria University of Wellington).

Applying for a visa

- ▶ You will need to apply directly to Immigration New Zealand (www.immigration.govt.nz) or through a licensed immigration adviser or a person exempt from licensing for your new visa (e.g., New Zealand lawyers).

- ▶ Our visa officer (based in Wellington) can help you understand what documents you need to provide for your student visa. Once you are at the stage of applying for a new visa and you are in Wellington, you can make an appointment.

An unconditional Offer of Place is issued when your NCEA, CAIE, or IB results have been verified by Wellington University International in January.

A Summary of Deposit is a receipt to prove you have paid your tuition fees. We recommend that you pay your tuition fees as soon as you receive your Offer of Place (conditional or unconditional). You need evidence that you have paid your fees (or have funding for them, such as a scholarship or student loan) to get your student visa.

"There were multiple universities in New Zealand for me to choose from. However, Victoria University of Wellington outshone the others for its extensive services and information provided before and after I enrolled for the University. Studying in the capital city gives me the opportunity to think globally and interact with highly regarded academic lecturers.

"My programme paved the way for me to delve deeper into all kinds of research in biology. There are libraries around every corner of the city with free study spaces; therefore, it never worried me to find a place to study. I enjoy the peacefulness of residing in Wellington."

Student, Bachelor of Science in Biology
Former New Zealand secondary school student
