

Symposium on Economic Freedom: Reading the Swiss Constitution

Nicolas Diebold¹, Paul Scott²

¹Faculty of Law, University of Lucerne

²Te Kauhanganui Tātai Ture—Faculty of Law, Victoria University of Wellington

Search video and slides

Abstract

Speakers

✦ Outline

Discussion

Featured Link

https://www.schulthess.com/buchshop/detail/ISBN-9783725597703/Diebold-Nicolas-Ruetsche-Bernhard/Wettbewerbsrecht-und-Marktregulierung?srsId=AfmBOooQPt_uQW0T2zOtMNk_xbSJCMu-2TRGcopibSfsS5eqcIN6a_Cg

Visit link

Symposium on Economic Freedom: Reading the Swiss Constitution

Nicolas Diebold

University of Lucerne

Paul Scott

Victoria University of Wellington

Chaired by Susy Frankel

Join us for a public talk about how Swiss Federal Constitution openly recognises economic freedom as both a basic human right and a key principle of its market economy.

Professor Nicolas Diebold from the University of Lucerne, a visiting scholar with NZCIEL, will discuss the history, current impact, and future importance of this right in shaping Switzerland's economic policies. The talk will also explore how government regulations and court decisions work together in one of the world's strongest economies.

The discussion and Q&A session will be chaired by Professor Susy Frankel FRSNZ, Chair in Intellectual Property and International Trade and an NZCIEL lead, and commented by Paul Scott, a senior lecturer at Te Herenga Waka and an NZCIEL research affiliate.

Download slides

References

- https://www.schulthess.com/buchshop/detail/ISBN-9783725597703/Diebold-Nicolas-Ruetsche-Bernhard/Wettbewerbsrecht-und-Marktregulierung?srsId=AfmBOooQPt_uQW0T2zOtMNk_xbSJCMu-2TRGcopibSfsS5eqcIN6a_Cg